 - c. What skills do you bring to the table at camp
 - d. What keeps bringing you back to camp
 - e. What would you do if you were confronted with a child who was very clingy?
 - i. Personal stance on this, depends on the child and leader
 - ii. Try divert them to another child or activity
 - f. How would you deal with a child that was caught hurting another child
 - i. Look at what they are doing and ask what can you do to help the problem if it is not so serious

- ii. If it is more serious, you need to talk to the child and intervene using physical contact. As you are touching them say "you need to let go, what can I do to help you". It distracts them from what they are doing and they will let go hopefully. Use their names.
 - iii. May need to be escalated, let camp leader know, maybe a strike
